WILL YOU QUIT YOUR JOB FOR MORE MONEY?

(EMPLOYEES)

▲ The above chart illustrates the true mindset of employees when faced with the question of “Will you QUIT your job for more MONEY?”

■ BACKGROUND :

Over thousands of employees surveyed and data collected by SarawakJobs.com, 910 of which are Sarawakians who are employed and working in Sarawak.

■ FINDINGS & ANALYSIS :

Our results show an obvious trend where 75% (3 in every 4 employees surveyed) said they will QUIT their job for a better pay that is offered elsewhere. Only minority 25% are either unsure or will not leave their job just because of a higher pay. So to employers out there, YES, people really do quit jobs for more money. Let’s face it, Money talks. No matter how much one may love his/her role, coworkers, work environment, benefits and conditions of their current employment, when opportunity knocks, especially with money as one of the key factors, people may choose to leave their comfort zone.
